Walls are overrated

Maybe it's the inexplicable freedom of being outdoors. Maybe it's the fresh perspective fresh air breathes into every gathering. There's just something about an outdoor setting that helps you reconnect with family and friends in a way no traditional living room can.

Heat & Glo™ LifeStyle Collection™ offers all the essential elements to create an inviting outdoor space that is uniquely yours. One you can't wait to share with those closest to you, or perhaps enjoy on your own...all the while wondering why anyone would ever miss four walls again.

Remember when everyone used to gather in the kitchen

Outdoors or in, people are drawn to the beauty of the hearth. In an outdoor setting, a fire's cozy warmth even takes the edge off of chilly days and nights to comfortably extend your entertaining season.

Heat & Glo™ LifeStyle Collection™ choice of hearths is as boundless as the evening sky, from weatherproof woodburning and gas models to portable campfire styles to the world's first indoor-outdoor see-through fireplace. Coordinating grill islands, benches, and tables answer your dining and seating needs with style and purpose.

As for the kitchen, well...you still need a place to store the glassware, right?

Take your shoes off... but only if you want to

Your outdoor living room can be as simple or sophisticated as you like. It's an escape from the everyday that you'll use every day, and it's as close as your patio door. No wonder an outdoor living room increases your home's value at a full one-to-one ratio. Still, the true dividends are measured in the moments you enjoy along the way.

The Heat & Glo™ LifeStyle Collection™—now this is what we call living.
